RANKING

no. 1

Maison Bordier

The definitive "best butter" I could find. Unfortunately, it's only widely available in France. (Maybe you'll get lucky in speciality shops.)

European
Origin: Brittany, France
Available: Europe

no. 2

Kerrygold

Solid choice of online forums. Widely mentioned and widely available.

European
Origin: Ireland
Available: Europe, USA, Canada

no. 3

St. Brigid's

Pricey, but high milk fat content. 84%!

Canadian
Origin: Brussels, Ontario
Available: Canada

BUTTER FACT

Standard milk fat (MF) for butter in North America is 80% whereas in it's 82% in Europe. Wonder how much that 2% makes.

no. 4

Trader Joe's

Specifically the Cultured Salted version. You already know I'm a fan of the Joe. No TJ's in Canada though, so this is for my American friends.

American
Origin: Brittany, France (Same as Bordier)
Available: USA

no. 5

Stirling Churn 84

Sounds like a username for someone's who chronically online, but it actually just goated butter. High fat content. I'm noticing a pattern.

Canadian
Origin: Stirling, Ontario
Available: Canada
